In this day and age of increasing prices and joblessness, it is most impressive that some individuals would spend the effort and cost to put together such a professional study as this. I think this gives us reason enough to carefully read this study and consider its' proposals seriously. There is not much to say about the study ... it speaks well enough for itself and it has our full support.

In recent years, with the pressure on the streams, we can only see that having brown trout in the Red Deer River will help spread this pressure. We know this project is going to entice interest - it already has and we are sure this would increase greatly needed economy in the Central Alberta Region.

Maybe in years to come our children will have one more thing to enjoy - fishing the elusive brown trout. Our support and thanks to the Friends of the Red Deer River - let's keep fishing the fastest growing sport.
